sContainer – 4 good reasons for the sContainer

Mobile workshop with optional shelf system

The sContainer is used as a mobile depot on construction sites or during service calls – if desired, including an organisation system. This means that tools and consumables are available directly on site. This is a great advantage for longer-term construction sites or inner city operations where it is not always possible to drive commercial vehicles to the site.

Low acquisition and maintenance costs

The sContainer is not only much cheaper to buy than a commercial vehicle, for example, but also cheaper to maintain. Because motor vehicle insurance and taxes do not apply. So use the mobile depot to avoid having to drive your tools, machinery and consumables back and forth every day – saving a lot of fuel costs in the process and ensuring that no equipment is left behind.

Seamless integration into transport and logistics chains

Because its footprint is the same format as a euro pallet, the sContainer is cost-effective to integrate into any logistics process. It can be moved by forklift trucks and transported inexpensively by lorry, ship or plane. So you can use the sContainer globally and have it delivered directly to the place of use. Your service or construction site team simply follows behind.

Minimum footprint, maximum use of space

The footprint of the sContainer is no larger than one euro pallet. This makes the service container a compact depot with plenty of interior space for the tightest of construction sites or service operations. Because integrating an SR5 racking system creates storage space on several levels, which can be used for tools and consumables.

sContainer – Product features

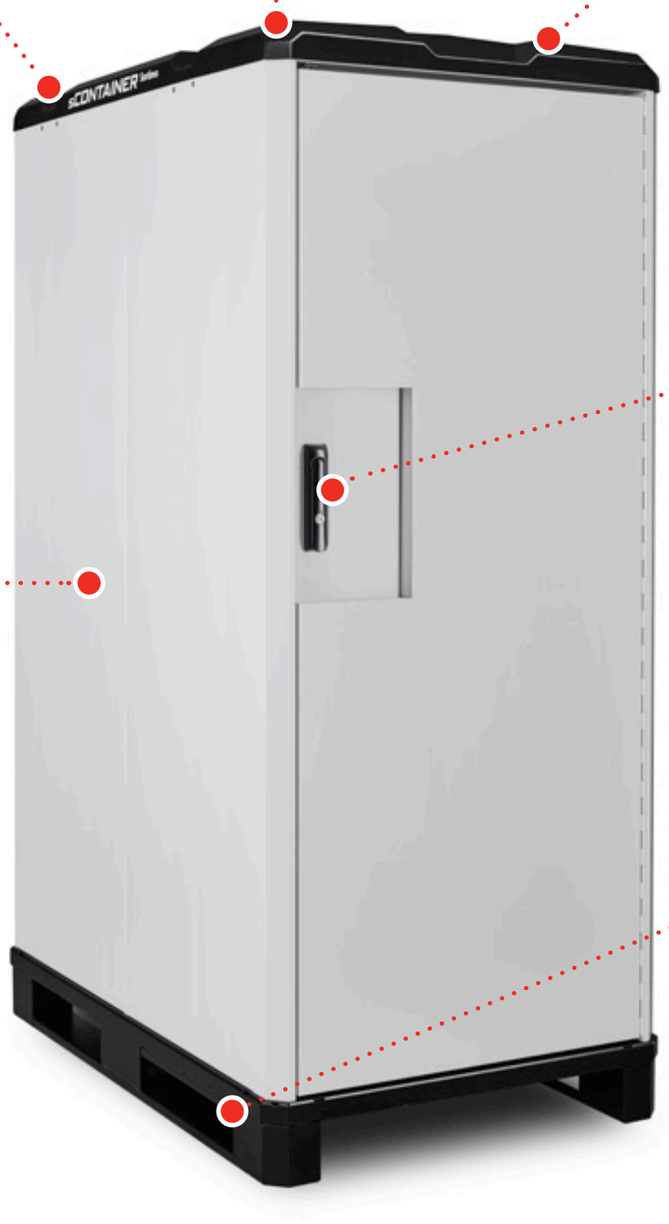
Sturdy material

The base is a massive frame that can take loads of up to 500 kg. The shell is made of powder-coated sheet steel. A plastic cover prevents the ingress of rainwater.

Ventilation

Small roof vent | Art.-Nr. 801016208
Round floor vent | Art.-Nr. 6000001283

The ventilation system ensures a constant flow of fresh air. Suitable for gas transports.



Lifting kit sContainer

Art.-Nr. 1000013967

As an option, the lifting eyes can be retrofitted so that the sContainer can also be moved around on site by crane.

Lock

Choose between three locks for the sContainer. The cheapest variant is the padlock, which ensures solid protection against theft. Alternatively, you can choose a cylinder lock or the high-end version, the electronic combination lock that does away with the need for keys.

Advertising space

The side walls of the sContainer are an excellent advertising space for your company. Please contact us to request your customised decals: my*Sortimo.com/graphics

Transport slots

The floor assembly of the sContainer is based on a euro pallet. This means the container can be picked up and transported by forklift trucks.

sContainer – Equipment for optimal organization

Interior

The interior is easily accessible through a large door. The floor is covered with resistant SoboGrip flooring. A unique feature is that components of the SR5 van racking can be installed in the interior and ensure optimum organisation and additional load securing.
